Dervan, Lucian E.  Podgor, Ellen S.	Email Ellen	Dervan Bio  Podgor Bio	Peeling the Orange: White Collar Crime Trial Problem	Carolina Academic Press	$34 (Softcover)	Book URL	This trial advocacy problem provides a practical application for an experiential learning of white collar criminal advocacy. It offers a real-world setting, allowing students to study the handling of a white collar case from the initial meeting with the client through sentencing. Along the way, students are asked to deal with a company search, grand jury investigation, joint defense agreement, and all aspects of the pre-trial and trial process. As law schools move to teaching increased experiential learning, this advocacy problem offers a rich example for studying the intersection of corporate and criminal law.

Gershowitz, Adam M.	Email Adam	Gershowitz Bio	The Wire: Crime, Law, and Policy	Carolina Academic Press	$70 (Hardcover)	Book URL	This book uses the HBO series The Wire as a springboard for discussing some of the most pressing criminal law and policy issues of our time. Using landmark cases as well as little known state decisions, the book analyzes the law of wiretapping, drug possession, search and seizure, confessions, and sentencing. It also considers broader questions, such as whether the police understand or follow Supreme Court precedent. The book examines important questions, such as crime statistics manipulation, drug legalization, prisoner reentry, police brutality, the use of informants, and the media's influence on policing and public policy.

West Academic Publishing	$263 (Hardcover) $197.25 (eBook)	Book URL	The book is designed to promote student appreciation of the interaction of legal doctrines, as they are applied in the white collar crime field, with the actual legal practice in this area. Students are exposed to substantive criminal law, criminal procedure, administrative procedure, corporate law, evidence, civil procedure, sentencing law, and highly specialized regulatory law. Balancing the law and practice, this book offers students an understanding of both the influence of administrative policies, as well as the strategies encompassed in representing individuals and companies in a white collar criminal practice.
